That's the 2017 head count for Huntsville Utilities' educational field trips

Huntsville Utilities offers a special learning experience each year to fourth grade students from our three local school systems, private schools and home school associations. The full-day field trip helps students understand their electric, natural gas and water systems. It also teaches conservation and community involvement.

Huntsville Utilities is a publicly-owned, not-for-profit organization that supports Huntsville, Madison and Madison County with reliable utilities, information, and community service.
